

City residents asked for I-680 crossing

City of Pleasanton wants the people to help resolve the great debate over "How best to bridge Interstate 680?"

The need for some kind of overcrossing that would connect the Foothill Road area to the balance of the community seems evident. What is less clear is how, if at all, local taxpayers should participate in that project.

Six alternatives have been put forward, and the city council hopes to gain the opinion of a broad cross section of the local populace in choosing one of those routes. This poll, being conducted by the press in response to the council's request, will provide the city's leadership with that local opinion.

The council points out that the city has set aside $350,000 for the construction of a facility at West Las Positas. Any funds required over that amount would have to be generated "through an additional allocation of local gasoline gas tax revenues, Federal funds or property tax revenues," the council explains.

"Assuming that the Stoneridge Drive overcrossing of I-680 will be constructed in conjunction with the Regional Shopping Center, possibly starting as early as next year," the council states, the city then asks that local residents indicate their own priority (one through six) of the available alternatives for a West Las Positas overcrossing.

Mark your choice, one through six, on this ballot and return it to: City Manager's Office, Civic Center, P.O. Drawer C, 200 Bernal Ave. Pleasanton, CA. 94566.

(The six choices are listed together with their estimated total cost.)

1. No Overcrossing (No cost)
2. Overcrossing for pedestrians and bicycles that cannot be modified in the future to accommodate vehicular traffic (Est. $400,000)
3. Overcrossing for pedestrians and bicycles that CAN be modified in the future to accommodate vehicular traffic (Est. $800,000)
4. First stage vehicular overcrossing with two lanes of traffic plus pedestrian and bicycle facilities (Est. $1,600,000)
5. Full overcrossing with four lanes of traffic plus pedestrian and bicycle facilities (Est. $2,500,000)
6. Full interchange with four lanes of traffic plus pedestrian and bicycle facilities and on/off ramps (Est. $5,000,000)

Sifting life's leftovers

It's not Andy Warhol's "Trash," but it definitely belongs to someone. Pleasanton Fire Marshal Ted Klenk can often tell who the negligent discarder is just by sifting through trash and finding discarded credit card receipts and many other documents. Then Klenk calls the offending party to ask him or her to pick up the trash. If there's no response, he turns it over to the police department for a citation. This monument to messiness is on private property on Valley Avenue near the mined-out Kaiser pits, about a half mile from the garbage transfer station. (Times Photo)

PLEASANTON — "Who steals my purse, steals trash," says the old adage, but Fire Marshal Ted Klenk can tell a lot about people by their trash.

Klenk can go to an impromptu dump, usually in a tucked-away corner of the city where people dump illegally at night, and sift through credit card receipts and track down the people who are messing up the landscape.

Klenk's angle isn't just the ugly looks of an illegal dump in a vacant lot or farmer's field. As Fire Marshal he doesn't want any litter to accumulate. It can be a fire hazard in some of the oddest ways.

For example, if someone drops off old cans of paint thinner in a vacant field, as someone has near Valley Avenue, wandering kids with matches can hurt themselves. Even piles of leaves and grass clippings can endanger areas prone to fire. And rip-rap, those awful looking piles of broken concrete sometimes glimpsed in empty lots, can prevent a fire truck from reaching a grass fire.

People are surprised when Klenk tracks them down, but so far they have been cooperative in coming Avenue just a half mile from the Pleasanton Garbage Service's transfer station. Klenk rifled some papers he picked up earlier at the scene and gave a little biography of the man whose credit documents were in the dump.

"This person works at a medical sort of building, judging by these documents which describe therapy rooms, game rooms, a ceramics library. These checks show the man's name. This record shows he uses MasterCard and this credit card stub shows he went on a tour with neighbors," said Klenk.

Documents also gave the man's address in San Ramon, showed he belongs to Blue Shield and had bought a part at a local car dealer. Klenk couldn't understand why the man would discard such "important tax records."

There was a fence on the property for about 300 feet along Valley Avenue as recently as last June, but gradually the fence came down. Illegal dumpers or people on motorcycles who want to cut through the property may have brought down the fence, said Klenk. He will talk to the property owner about the problem and if many of the dumpers can't be found, it will be up to the landowner to remove the unsightly, unhealthy, unsafe messes.

It's not fair to the landowners, but unless the responsible dumper can be found, it has to be done because the nuisance has to be abated, said Klenk. It would be helpful if the public would cooperate by reporting dump problems to Klenk at the fire department, he said.

Massive Stanley widening project

Lots of new $7 to $12 - an-hour jobs — not to mention a glamorous new Stanley Boulevard at last wide enough to drive safely — will be coming to the Valley next year.

The jobs will be in the construction industry, from general laborer to machine operator, plumber, and carpenter. Only half of the $3.5 million project is actually in the bag so far, with Stage II in the applying-for-grants stage.

The lone road connecting downtown Livermore directly with downtown Pleasanton, Stanley Boulevard is a five-mile-long, two-lane corridor between gravel pits belonging to Kaiser, Lone Star, Rhodes - Jamieson and Cal Rock.

According to 1975 county figures, an average of 15,500 vehicles per day share the narrow lanes with 800 gravel trucks and cement mixers. Everyone shoots along at 55 or 60 miles per hour except when held up by a slow-moving truck or an understandably nervous driver.

A 1972 study placed the safe speed along Stanley at 38 to 50 mph. The study also observed that safe left-turn jughandles are needed to get vehicles out of the whizzing mainstream of traffic as they attempt to turn into Shadow Cliffs Park or one of the gravel company driveways.

The Stanley Boulevard widening project is designed to take care of all that. And, a clause in the specifications provides for the hiring of local labor, which could bring a minor sort of boom to the area for a year or two.

Anyone who gets a new job because of the project can thank the gravel companies for making the construction take longer and cost more than it would have if the road were designed for ordinary traffic.

Sam Kavar, supervising civil engineer in charge of the project, says the gravel trucks "just beat the heck out of the pavement."

The roadbed will have to be twice as thick and made of extremely tough materials to withstand 15 or 20 years of travel by the gravel trucks. "It costs us much more to make a much stronger facility," he explained.

The widening will only affect the south side of Stanley. The only spot where the road will not have a 16-foot-wide divider will be opposite Shadow Cliffs Park.

Here, steep 70-foot cliffs prevent the road from being widened as much as it will be in other places. But there will be a four-foot median and a protected left turn jughandle.

According to Kavar, the widening will be accomplished in two stages. Only Stage I so far is funded.

That part stretches from El Caminito in Livermore, as far as the Lone Star entrance just beyond Isabel Avenue. Work is expected to begin in January, the $1.5 million cost coming from gasoline taxes.

That segment is expected to take 180 working days, or about 10 or 11 months, allowing for bad weather and other problems that beset contractors.

Stage II takes the widening all the way into Pleasanton, to a point 700 feet east of Santa Rita Road.

The county is applying for $2 million in federal funding under a new public works bill, the Economic Development Act.

That bill, Kavar explains, is designed to create jobs for local people. Stage II would take about 150 working days to complete, and could be launched even before Stage I is finished.

"There will be no interruption to existing traffic during construction," Kavar promises. "Except for some minor inconvenience."

The county is submitting several projects to the federal government for Economic Development Act funding, and Kavar says there are no assurances that Stage II will get the necessary money.

"If not," he says, "that part of the project is dead until we qualify for funding."

The bike lane that connects both Livermore and Pleasanton with Shadow Cliffs will be replaced by a smoother, 10-foot-wide lane at the southern edge of the new road.

Kavar promises that the stately walnut trees lining the west end of Stanley will be preserved. "Every effort will be made to save them," he promises. "We may have to take one or two or three."

The trees on the south side will become part of the median strip, while those on the north will remain untouched.

Vandal victim roundup

PLEASANTON — The written comments of downtown business operators who have been hit by vandalism is being sought as one more phase of that campaign.

Dr. Trent Pridemore appeared before a Tuesday luncheon meeting of the Chamber of Commerce to urge "everyone who has had any experience in this regard, any damage or serious litter," to write their comments on one page for submission to the city manager's office.

Pridemore said volunteers will collect those letters Wednesday of this week, to be used as part of a presentation to the city authorities, Monday, 8:15 a.m. at the Council Chambers on East Angela Street.

Pridemore also urged "a very big turnout" at that Monday morning session, in addition to providing the written reports of vandalism and other disruptions to downtown business.

Merle Telford, chamber president, noted that "When we planned a moonlight sidewalk sale as part of next week's Pleasanton Days promotion, the city police warned us that no merchandise should be left on the sidewalks after 7 p.m. because of these vandals."

Fair losses spur court maneuvers

The Alameda County Fair Association Board will pursue litigation in order to file a claim in the wake of an unprecedented drop in revenues from the 1976 fair.

Directors asked fellow board member Richard McCarthy to re-contract the Oakland law firm of Moore, Sizor and Cantwell. The latter represented the association during the imbroglia Service Employees International Union in July.

Gate receipts fell during the two-week fair as pickets maintained lines at all gates.

No horse racing was held.

Directors will ask the law firm to take the case on a contingency basis.

The recommendation to proceed with the litigation was presented by the board's legal committee.

Fair Manager Lee Hall reported supervisors will review the association's first ever deficit budget, $188,748, next Tuesday.

Hall said the fair has sustained an operating loss of $549,000 to date.

In other business, Hall said the fair would give no further monies for the annual fair parade until the city of Pleasanton's stand on the fair parade (vs. the Goodtimes Parade) was ascertained.

The board also accepted the resignation of Bud and Alta Baldwin effective Oct. 1. They were in charge of the trailer courts and stall rentals.

Aliens cash in on budget blues

PLEASANTON — The big Border Patrol office out at Camp Parks is a frustrating place to be this month, thanks to a crimp in the budget and a quirk in the law.

The office is headquarters for all of Northern California, Kern County to the Oregon border. Agents working out of the local headquarters are supposed to flush out illegal aliens — mostly Mexicans — and send them back to the border on old green buses that leave Pleasanton daily for El Centro.

There's only one problem — their already inadequate budget has been cut by one-third in the area of detention costs.

Which means that many of the ranch hands, field laborers and factory workers police discover to have illegally entered the country go free, since the Border Patrol can't pay to jail them.

Herbert E. Walsh, chief patrol agent for this area, said that although the harvest season is at its peak — and so is the stream of workers crossing the border — his department is arresting fewer people than they did at the beginning of the summer, because of their money problems.

"It's like trying to empty the ocean with a bucket," he said plaintively. "We estimate one-third of California's 350,000 to 450,000 agricultural laborers are illegal aliens."

"As a matter of fact, we think there are 6 to 8 million illegal aliens in the United States — most of them holding jobs that citizens and taxpayers should have."

"Yet, the Border Patrol has a total of 2,900 enforcement personnel to watch 6,000 miles of land borders and to investigate farms and factories as we are doing."

Luckily, says Walsh, it's only a temporary problem that should be relieved in October when the new government fiscal year begins.

But right now, their detention budget has been cut from $30,000 a month to $20,000.

Not all aliens who are caught need to be detained. About 90 per cent of them agree to go back to their native country right away, to avoid further trouble.

But some take advantage of their right to a hearing before an immigration judge, and must be jailed for a day or longer before the hearing. Police sometimes arrest someone on criminal charges and then discover he is an illegal alien — and expect the Border Patrol to pay for his detention.

"We've just been telling police departments we can't pay it," Walsh says. "Sometimes they have to let them go free."

Border Patrol agents are also frustrated because, thanks to a legal quirk, there's no law against hiring an illegal alien. Employers are not penalized for taking advantage of this ever-present source of cheap labor. There's obviously a financial incentive to employers to hire the aliens, and many will do it over and over, says Walsh.

"For the last three years, there have been bills before Congress to penalize employers. But there are powerful pressure groups against the bills — including the aliens themselves, many of whom can vote."

"We've picked up plenty of aliens who have voter registration certificates."

Anyone concerned about the problem, Walsh suggests, should contact their representatives in Washington and urge them to vote for the Eastland bill or the Rodino bill, both designed to make the Border Patrol more effective.

Congress has already authorized a big jump in Border Patrol funding, effective in October.

Beefing up the staff with the new funds will help, says Walsh, but not as much as shutting off potential sources of employment to the Mexicans.

"The state of California passed a similar law back in 1972. It went to the Supreme Court and was upheld, but the courts here are still deciding how to enforce it," notes Walsh.

Ironically, if an illegal alien manages to hold on in the United States for long enough to marry and raise a family, he is virtually home free.

The Immigration and Naturalization Service usually allows long-established aliens to apply for permanent status through a spouse. After five years, they can even become naturalized citizens.

Doesn't want to pay for calls

PLEASANTON — Councilman Ken Mercer challenged Councilman Frank Brandes' request to be reimbursed for approximately $250 in telephone expenses Monday night.

Brandes submitted the bill for six months worth of phone calls which he has made on city business.

Mercer said at budget time and repeated Monday that he feels the council should take expense money out of the $100 a month salary in a further effort to economize.

Brandes said yesterday that his philosophy is that any "reasonable expenses incurred by city council members connected with their capacity as city council people ought to be reimbursed by the city."

The council decided Monday night that the council's financial committee would take up the problem and try to set some definite policy about what should and should not be covered by the city council's expense account.

The council also referred an item on city council liaisons with city committees to the council's administrative committee. The issue first arose when Vice-mayor Joyce LeClaire felt that Brandes overstepped his authority at a Housing Authority meeting.

Brandes, who later said he was merely describing residents' attitudes toward public housing, was quoted publicly as saying that many local residents moved here to escape racial tensions.

LeClaire interpreted this as a "racist remark" and felt that Brandes had no right to impute that remark to the council as a whole.

LeClaire noted Monday night that council members have received a League of California Cities booklet on council decorum guidelines when they first joined the council. She thought that might make a good starting point for evolving the council's policy on council spokespersons and other considerations relating to council decorum.

On another item, Mercer said that the council should interest the Chamber of Commerce in backing the senior citizen 10 per cent discount card program. The city has been asked to take leadership in the program, but Mercer felt that government should not have that role, especially since it's a natural for the Chamber. The city may cooperate to the extent of paying for printing the cards, though, suggested LeClaire. Senior citizens themselves will go into the community and sell the cards.

Two suspects arrested in church vandalism

LIVERMORE — Two local men have been arrested and reportedly admitted committing a vandalism attack at the People's Church on Bluebell Drive Sunday.

Christopher Laurence Larsen, 19, of 1904 Broadmoor St., and Russell Lee Palmer, 18, 1916 Broadmoor St., both of Livermore, were arrested and booked in connection with the case.

Sometime Sunday, vandals took a fire extinguisher and sprayed its white powder contents over the church organ, piano, carpet, benches and other furnishings. Five darts were sticking in an oil painting and in the wood panelled walls, police said.

A damaged trophy was believed to have been used as a hammer to break a doorknob and enter an office, wherein a desk was damaged and a file's contents were strewn about the floor.

A note that said "Bismark and Romel (sic) were here" was left behind. Police also recovered a manilla envelope with Christopher Larsen's name.

Detective Dave Hollander went to Larsen's home the next day, when Larsen reportedly admitted vandalizing the church by himself. He then gave the name of a man who he said he met after the attack, outside the church.

Russell Palmer was then interviewed by Hollander. Palmer allegedly said he gained entry to the church via an obscure door. He reportedly said he knew of the door because he helped in the building's construction, and was once a member of the church congregation, police reported.

Palmer was reported to say he watched Larsen commit the vandalism, but caused none of it himself.

Police records reveal that Livermore police had stopped and checked both men at 3:58 a.m. Sunday, about the time when the vandalism attack occurred.

No charges have yet been filed by the district attorney's office in the case.

Attempted rape reported on Charlotte Way

LIVERMORE — An 18-year-old Charlotte Way resident, waiting for a ride from her mother in front of her apartment building Saturday about 5 a.m., was reportedly grabbed by two men who tried to rape her, police said yesterday.

According to sketchy police reports, the woman hit both men and escaped, and was able to return to her apartment unharmed.

The suspects escaped in a station wagon with large rear fins on the fender, police said.

There was no further information available.

Man arrested after weapons found

LIVERMORE — An 18-year-old Livermore man was arrested after a short foot chase following the discovery of two weapons in the man's possession, police said.

According to reports, officer Donn Neher responded to reports of a man passed out behind the wheel of a car in front of Portola Avenue School. Neher arrived and found the man asleep in his car which was pouring smoke from underneath its hood.

After several attempts, Neher awoke the man and conducted a pat search for weapons, turning up a sharp instrument with a rotating wooden handle. When asked to sit in the patrol car, the suspect ran off down the street, but was apprehended 100 yards later.

A search of the car revealed another similar weapon in the open glove compartment of the suspect's car.

Arrested was Ronald Lee Webb, 18, of 3926 Pestana Way in Livermore. He was booked on suspicion of possession of a deadly weapon, resisting arrest and drunk or disorderly conduct in public.

Burglars strike Marguerite Way home

LIVERMORE — Burglars entered an unlocked garage door to a Marguerite Way residence sometime early Saturday and took a toolbox and tools valued at $200, police reported.

Vernon Edward Rose told police that the toolbox contained various tools, including sockets and wrenches. There are no suspects in the theft.

Golf clubs taken from outside Castlewood golf shop

PLEASANTON — Golf clubs worth $663.25 were taken from a rack outside the Castlewood Country Club pro shop, sheriff's deputies reported.

Charles Gielow of Applewood Way in Pleasanton told deputies that the clubs were taken from the "club care center" outside the pro shop. There are no clues in the theft.

Ballot cost error stirs LAVWMA unit

PLEASANTON — A $7 million error in the valley waste water pipeline ballot resolution was corrected last night, but not before dissension, frustration and anger took its toll among members of the Livermore-Amador Valley Water Management Agency (LAVWMA).

LAVWMA directors held a special board meeting last night to correct the pipeline's total estimated cost from $21 million, as included in the ballot resolution, to $28 million. The technical error was attributed to the use of 1975 dollar estimates of the pipeline's cost, instead of 1979 figures, when construction will be complete. That $7 million represents a four year inflation rate.

After grumblings among board members about press coverage of the error and possible negative effects those articles might have on the voting public, LAVWMA directors unanimously passed a resolution amending the previous ballot resolution, which contained erroneous figures.

Discussion quickly switched to a one-page plea urging a "no" vote on the pipeline measure, distributed to board members last night. It is signed by LAVWMA member (and Livermore city councilman) Glen Dahlbacka, Richard Ryon and Robert Pearson of the Zone 7 water management board, and Ed Lee of San Ramon.

The type written argument against the $28 million LAVWMA pipeline claimed the proposed sewage capacity of 19.72 million gallons - per - day (mgd) is "excessive, there are hidden costs which won't be revealed until after the election and there are no guarantees the project will be used as the ballot argument states." It goes on to charge that the industrial capacity, set aside solely for future industrial uses in Livermore and Pleasanton, could support 45,000 additional persons, possibly opening the way for "Geldertown" to be built in Livermore.

Ron Hyde challenged Dahlbacka's continued membership in LAVWMA, and got support from chairman Robert Philcox. "It doesn't seem to me that you should be on this board with your public opposition to this measure. Your argument casts aspersions on what we have said. I'm registering my dissent; you do what you want."

"I don't see how Glen can sit on the board and continue to criticize the measure," Philcox said.

Dahlbacka countered, saying he sits on the city council and votes "no" on issues there as well. "I have concerns how the industrial capacity will be used — it could be changed to residential use by a majority of board members. A reconsideration of the amount of the industrial capacity is in order. That's where I'm at."

Lila Euler said she had no objection to Dahlbacka continuing to sit on the board. "I think it's inappropriate to ask him to resign just because he objects to the current project," and should continue to try and arrive at an agreement with other board members, she said.

Hearing set in robbery

LIVERMORE — Two men arrested after an armed robbery at a Pleasanton Motel Sept. 5 have been scheduled for preliminary hearing in municipal court here Sept. 22.

Terry Eugene Grant, 19, and William Robert Reed, 36, both of Pittsburg, were charged with using a sawed off shotgun and a rifle in the theft at California 6 Motel, 5102 Hopyard Rd.

California Highway Patrol officers J. F. Wright and J. Pabst reported they were eating at a nearby restaurant when a person told them of a robbery in progress.

They reportedly went by foot to the motel, approximately 40 yards away and saw the two suspects leaving. The police chased the two men until they surrendered in a nearby field.

Grant and Reed are accused of taking an undetermined amount of money, a watch, rifle and wallet from motel managers Edwin and Albertine Kangas. Two motel guests, Irene and Cliff Mesorve of Campbell were robbed of a coin purse, watch and wallet.

In other court action:

— Alfred Glen Ingram, 32, of San Francisco, was bound over to Superior Court on $20,000 bail for escaping from Santa Rita Jail August 1. Prison authorities said he left through a broken window pane in a shower room.

— Lowell William Carico, 36, of Hayward was scheduled to enter a plea today on charges of possessing the animal tranquilizer PCP at the same prison. Officials said they were conducting a heroin search when they allegedly found the PCP in Carico's locker.

Drug pleas today

LIVERMORE — Two Santa Rita Jail inmates, charged on suspicion of a variety of drug offenses while at the prison, have been scheduled to enter pleas in municipal court here.

John Jacob Moreno, 34, and Joseph Franklin Rodriguez, 34, both of Hayward, had been serving one year sentences on unrelated cases when they were charged with the crimes Sept. 7.

Deputies reportedly found a half ounce of heroin and assorted narcotics paraphernalia in their possession.

Both men were booked on suspicion of possession of narcotics with intent to sell and possessing narcotics in a prison, both felonies; illegal use or under the influence of narcotics; illegal possession of narcotics paraphernalia and maintaining a place where narcotics is used.

Murray school plan draws fire

DUBLIN — Fifty Murray School District residents learned more about the conversion status quo issue last night at a meeting called by Residents in Action.

The audience, which matched opinions and questions along with meeting chairman Jerry Harrington, also learned School area Fredriksen parents are circulating a petition opposing conversion.

Chairwomen of the Fredriksen group is Delores Brinkman.

Tonight, the Citizens Advisory Committee will hold its next-to-last meeting to shape recommendations for presentation to the school boards Oct. 4. Meeting time is 7:30 p.m. at Fredriksen.

The CAC's actions to date drew discussion, Harrington telling the audience it was his understanding the CAC was going to urge conversion of Dublin and Frederiksen.

During discussion IRA publicity coordinator Lenore Holmes claimed "We found many Donlon parents do not want their school converted. They don't want their kids bused anymore than we do. What they do want is their facility improved."

Border Patrol personnel experience a certain sense of outrage when they arrest someone like the Anchorage, Alaska hotel manager who was pulling down $29,000 a year, or the woman who owned a prosperous bar in Fresno.

Last month, local agents arrested 5,289 aliens in the 49 counties of Northern California (out of a potential total of 350,000 or more.) About 67 per cent were working — earning $2.50 to $4.50 an hour on the average.

"The magnet that attracts people is jobs," says Walsh.

"At this point, there are so many aliens in California that they're coming in and surrendering because they can't find jobs!"

Live It Up
In the last 30 years, the real living standard of the average American has nearly doubled. In addition to improved productivity and the consequent rise in wages, the trend has been fueled by the changing occupations mix of the labor force. The Conference Board reports. Since World War II, white-collar employment has expanded twice as fast as blue-collar work, boosting average earnings. Also, the ratio of wives who work has jumped from 20 per cent in the 1940s to 43 per cent today, with almost 54 per cent working among households which earn $25,000 or more.

Prayer and the presidency

If you're on the TV cable, then you might also be on the Lord's channel, come this Friday.

The Christian Broadcasting Network has scheduled a radio and television special — It's Time To Pray, America — selected outlets across the country.

It's an all-star lineup, as they say. Billy Graham, Johnny Cash, Pat Boone, Cornelia Wallace. All that and Gerald Ford and Jimmy Carter, too.

We are a nation that has found religion, again. And nobody finds religion like a presidential candidate in an election year.

Without meaning to put down the religious beliefs of our nation's president, or even our nation's would-be president, there is still a disturbing element about all that nation-wide broadcasting of one's innermost beliefs. Somehow we get the feeling our leaders want to be terribly public about their private thoughts, just when most of us are praying privately for a little guidance on this most important presidential choice.

"Gimme That Old Time Religion," the preacher used to exhort. But in this day and age religion has simmered down a little. The sermonizing is more thoughtful. We look for substance, rather than sonics.

And that's what most of us want from our presidency, if we can judge by the reaction of Americans across the land.

That televised nation-wide pitch loses much of its worth when those who participate also preside over the state and congressional houses in which the Golden Rule is taken quite loosely. Legislators who cheat, on their constituents or their spouses, are hardly the source of any God-given word which might inspire the rest of us.

All of our presidents have always been deeply religious, or at least that's what they tell us. "One Nation Under God." But that rule is tabled when it serves the political fortunes or private goals of any one of those "leaders."

Let those leaders prove their humility, their servility to any higher power, up there or out here. Let them answer first to the people, and then to God. That's the way He would want it. That's the way most of us wanted it even before Watergate.

And we still do.

Tell the Council

For those who complain "City Hall never consults the people," the questionnaire that appears on page 1 of today's Times is a rare opportunity, and a serious challenge.

The development of some sort of east-west passage across I-680 is a problem that goes far beyond the concern of any one neighborhood, the plight of any one school, the threat to any one child. Pleasanton has long been "a city divided" ... and the barrier thrown up by I-680 is a very real threat to the blending of this total community.

There is not one Pleasanton resident who is removed from the need for that east-west crossing. The only question looks to the method, the means and the local cost for that facility.

On page 1 there begins a questionnaire that would take five minutes of your time to complete. Your answer will help guide a "city hall" decision that will set the pattern of this community for decades to come.

Think about your own traffic needs, then think about your city. Mail that questionnaire to City Hall ... Today!

Dogs on loose

Editor, The Times:
This is in answer to "Wised-Up."
Dear Wised-Up:

An unlicensed dog is a menace — to everyone. I am a jogger but I had to quit because I have been frightened so many times by loose, unlicensed (no tags or collars) dogs.

I carried a large stick with me and after I had to use it twice on a dog I gave up running. I called animal control on all the loose dogs but with no tags it is impossible to notify the owner. Are you one of those people who want the "fun" of a dog with none of the responsibility?

Wise-Up — those boys are doing us a favor. The next person who may be threatened by an unlicensed dog could be you. If owners won't accept willingly the responsibility of a dog and keep our streets safe from loose untamed dogs then they must be made to! Three cheers for the city council!

A dog lover whose dog is licensed and kept at home!

Bushy trees

Editor, The Times:

Your recent article on the "Trees for Pleasanton" made me wonder how many more people might donate $15 if they felt the city was keeping up their part of the bargain. "A gift of $15 guarantees the purchase, planting and cultivation."

Cultivation to me means adequately pruning the trees to insure a pleasing shape. The 210 trees planted in 1974 have not been pruned once to my knowledge. The abundant growth at the bottom of the trees (suckers) is very disagreeable to me. Not only do they detract from the beauty of the trees but they sap the strength needed to form large healthy trees.

This project might better be called "Bushes for Pleasanton."

Sandy Schiel
Pleasanton

(The city's tree experts inform us that "the volunteer growth at the base of a tree can afford protection that a young tree needs." However, the Trees for Pleasanton sponsors have voiced concern about the watering of these new trees, and that complaint has worked its way through city channels toward some hoped-for results. — Editor)

Slip us 5

Garbage collectors could use a good public relations man. They've become public enemies. In Livermore they're vilified more than those police operatives who go door-to-door registering dogs.

Few stories in recent months have elicited as much reader response as those dwelling on Livermore's garbage woes. Collection rates have doubled. Service has been cut in half.

With Indian Summer broiling about us insects are multiplying and buzzing among the junk.

For this garbagemen are taking lumps.

It is a unique experience for those pharaohs of phew who give so much to keep our neighborhoods clean. The trash man was once a loveable character, from a distance, anyway. We slipped him an extra buck Monday morning to haul away the tree trimmings. Christmas Eve he came inside (but just for a moment) for a cheery libation.

He was the symbol of good, honest, stinky work. The garbageman was also a reminder that no matter how bad things were on the job, they could be worse — sort of a visual, aromatic reminder of class distinction.

But of course it is a new age. Those old class barriers are breaking down. Now only San Francisco streetsweepers and a few Texas oil men make more money than trash collectors.

They don't need our holiday toddies. Their wet bars are well stocked with Jack Daniels. And they certainly won't be swayed by an extra couple of bucks pasted to the top of the can.

The garbageman is no longer that cuddly, grateful broad shouldered character willing to wade among your throw-aways.

In fact, he's become downright cantankerous.

Livermore garbage collectors have established a number of packaging rules for trash, say angry customers, that would insure the shipping safety of delicate crystal.

They want junk bagged and sealed. They don't want it jammed in the bottom of the can.

There are old residents who remember when they dictated to the disposal service. Now the situation is reversing.

Most complainers have tried to live with streamlined garbage service. They've paid inflated prices, settled for once-a-week pickup.

Grudging acceptance characterized their mood.

Until last week, anyway. Then some Livermore housewives roared over the discovery of maggot colonies in their trash cans. That was the melon rind that finally broke the Glad Bag.

They made enraged phone calls to newspapers, stormed the city dumps with bug infested cans, demanded a return to twice-a-week collection.

The city responded with a promise to survey customers on their collection preferences.

It's doubtful that a questionnaire will mollify the militant, however.

Instead, here's where garbagemen could use public relations savvy. Perhaps they could enclose No-Pest Strips with each month's bill, or carry squirt guns loaded with Raid.

The garbageman might try slipping a five under the customer's doorstep. How about spray painting trash cans with clown faces?

Anything to insure that the garbage business doesn't forget the poor guy stuck home with his bugs.

It's bound to beat a customer survey. Because if they ask a housewife what they should do with her garbage, she'll tell 'em.

Board vacancies

Pleasanton Joint School District trustees meet tonight to go over opening - of-school reports but more importantly they will review letters sent them on the trustee vacancy created by the resignation of Dr. Guy Clark.

By late Monday, the board had received four requests for consideration. The board elected to make an appointment rather than the original intention of going as a four-member board until the March elections when trustee Joe Schwab notified them he would be absent because of illness for approximately six weeks.

Schwab's absence leaves the board with the bare minimum number of three — clerk Betty Nostrand, Karen Finn and president Al Dutchover.

The Murray School District had a somewhat similar situation earlier this year, only the vacancy occurred virtually overnight. The trustees decided to wait until the March elections, just like the Pleasanton board originally had.

But Pleasanton is now down two in strength and should seek a more precise date as to when Schwab will be able to resume his board commitment.

As it stands now, Pleasanton will operate at least through October with three incumbent board members and one new board member — assuming an appointment is made by the end of this month.

The board must also be aware that barely six months from now three of the five positions will be up for election — the seat formerly held by Clark (who resigned for health and personal reasons to move his practice to Albuquerque, N.M.), Mrs. Finn and Dutchover.

So, depending on what re-election considerations of each may be, the Pleasanton board may be in for a considerable change in makeup.

The same is true for the Amador Valley Joint High School board, which will have three positions up for election next March — those of board president Wally Decker, clerk Wayne Barnes and John Delaney.

Today is the final day that any resident of the Pleasanton district can make his or her intention known concerning the board vacancy. Letter applications will be accepted through 5 p.m. at the school district headquarters, 123 Main St., Pleasanton.

A schedule of public interviews will be set up tonight with the interviews to take place Sept. 27 and 28.

We believe the successful applicant for this particular position should have (1) at least three to five years residence in the district, (2) a child in school, (3) some expertise or knowledge of a particular school function, and (4) ambition to seek a full term at next March's elections.

San Ramon Valley Unified School District trustees are to be commended for directing staff to work up a program whereby district residents will be able to learn more about the workings of the budget.

A tentative plan, which could amount to a series of workshop meetings starting this fall, may be ready for board review at the Sept. 20 session.

San Ramon is the one district in the valley undergoing dramatic change, and a concerned and articulate citizenry is demanding to be kept abreast of the machinery that takes their tax dollars and converts it to a smoothly-functioning school system.

We can only hope that residents of other valley districts will evidence as much concern.

LIGHTER TIMES

NEWS ITEM: The Russian pilot of a super - secret MIG-25 fighter plane made an emergency landing at a Japanese airport today, leaped from the cockpit and fired - off a pistol to warn airport workers away from the plane, and promptly announced he was defecting to the United States "to start a new life of freedom."

Meanwhile ...

Operators of a crop dusting landing strip near Pismo Beach were startled today when the pilot of a Republic of Filbert aircraft careened to a stop after ignoring repeated waveoffs.

Lashed to his revolutionary STAL aircraft as a precaution, the pilot, identifying himself as "The Funge," said he was defecting from the little-known South Pacific atoll to start life anew "anywhere within the sovereign commonwealth of Disneyland."

The Funge explained he had long dreamed of operating the Matterhorn ride at Disneyland or the log flume ride ... whichever paid more.

STAL stands for Sideways Take-off And Landing, a unique concept developed one day when a Republic of Filbert pilot skidded his biplane into the island nation's only control tower.

After listening to his story, operators of the remote Pismo Beach landing strip allowed The Funge to refuel his plane, telling him he had "five minutes to get your crate off our field and out of our air space."

Round the town

September's heat is mixing with Metro's pollution to make the Valley something less than bearable ... the sounds of a thousand pairs of small feet tromping through your front yard give notice that school is back in session ... and it is fair warning that the long summer vacation season is at an end.

What better time then to abandon the scene? Particularly those of us who no longer have to dwell upon lunches to be packed, school bus schedules to be met, the inevitable parent-teacher conference soon to come.

I have always contended that the best vacation time is from the day after Labor Day through the first week of June. Especially so in California, and in these Bay Area climes where some of the most marvelous climate of the year is to be found in the fall, in the counties that flank our bountiful coast.

Mendocino is our favorite. Where the air is sharp, clear; where the weather unpredictable; the excitement never dulled. In just four hours of leisurely driving ... including a delightful lunch in the vineyards ... you can be in a world apart from our madding pace.

Early fall in Mendocino is a weekend retreat for "adults only." Heritage House near Little River makes it more so.

The great escape only begins when you are beyond Vallejo ... past the lineup of gasoline storage tanks that flank Route 680 through "beautiful Benicia" ... into Petaluma country ... where one man's fence folly serves notice that here perhaps is the last of our urban clutter ... beyond is nature's handiwork ... the rich fields ... the lovely vineyards.

It was Chateau Souverain where we made our first stop. For "a gourmet lunch in the vineyard." They did not lie.

Look for "Independence Lane" just off of State 101. It is well worth the stop ... but leave room and time for a full lunch ... with glass of wine. Not recommended when you are homeward bound in the late-evening traffic.

Then on to Cloverdale ... on a road where you rarely challenge the posted speed limits ... because the scenery is beginning to take its hold. And so is the wine. C'est la vie.

There are many delightful spots along the Mendocino coast that invite the traveller for a restful weekend. Heritage House is one of those precious few developed hard by the ocean's waters ... before the Coastal Commission's welcome restraint.

"Developed" is not really the word for Heritage. "Happening" is more apt. A blending of handsome accommodations with the raw law land that is unique ... particularly when compared with some of the modern lodges that spring up like a contest in latter-day architecture, to fight the mighty Pacific.

Heritage House does not fight. It succumbs. "The land and the ocean got here first, and we are mere intruders." It seems to say. As long as those innkeepers know their place, their foothold on that rugged coast is assured.

No TV. No telephone. No room service. Find your own ice ... although an old-world lounge and bar make that diversion particularly welcome. And everywhere, and always, the restless ocean, the rugged coast, the view that takes you to the edge, and then plunges you off into the foggy unknown.

Our first day was warm and sunny. "First nice day in weeks," the young man assured us as he toted our luggage. We waited for next day's inevitable fog and chill winds before our own sun-baked bodies began to unwind. Sunshine is for the interior flatlands. Only the coastal areas give promise of something different. And never more different than along the Mendocino County shoreline.

There is history there, for those who always want to feel they tread in other's steps. Sharing a scene that went before.

For Mendocino there was first a hint of California gold ... although the real strike would be the great stands of redwood ... providing timber for the cities ... the first promise of permanence to a San Francisco that, hitherto, was inclined to fall down even before it could burn down.

Logging came to Mendocino before there were roads ... the first logging crews travelled by boat ... others came to fish the waters ... still others to smuggle ... the rock-rimmed harbors and uncertain caves providing welcome sanctuary to those bent upon avoiding local authority.

You can stand on the shore at Heritage House and trace with eye and fantasy the course of a ship that dodges great rocks ... heading for that cove at your very feet ... bringing contraband spirits and illegal Orientals to the eager inland markets.

And beyond your vision there is the moan of the fog horn ... recalling still the great ships that could not slip by the rocks ... that yielded to the terrible seas ... taking all hands to a cold death.

Try Mendocino in the fall. It's a far cry from the commuter crunch through Dublin Canyon.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Mike Lawrence points out that the suit-preference signal is not a cure-all for all defensive problems and that in some hands its abuse can lead to all sorts of trouble.

Thus, in general, when you are following suit at the first trick and your partner is going to hold the trick, a high card means come-on, while a low card asks your partner to shift to another suit.

We won't go into the merits or demerits of West's overcall, but he did overcall with one spade and decided to open the ace.

East followed with the deuce of the suit and West, who was one of those suitpreference-happy players, decided that his partner was asking for a club shift. It would be almost impossible to figure out an East hand that wanted a club shift, but West led one. South took his ace, drew trumps, cashed the spade king, discarded one diamond on dummy's long club, another on the queen of spades and made an overtrick.

A sensible West would have played his ace of diamonds at trick two, East would follow with the jack. West would lead a second diamond and the defense would have taken the first four tricks.

Ask the Jacobys

A Canadian reader wants to know the correct response to your partner's one-spade opening bid with:
♠ 10 8 5 ♥ J 4 3 ♦ A 10 8 2 ♣ K 7 6.
The correct response is a raise to two spades. Even if your partner has only four spades and a minimum opener two spades is likely to be a better contract than one notrump. If he has a good hand you can get to notrump if the bidding proceeds the right way.

(Do you have a question for the experts? Write "Ask the Jacobys" care of this newspaper. The Jacobys will answer individual questions if stamped, self-addressed envelopes are enclosed. The most interesting questions will be used in this column and will receive copies of JACOBY MODERN.)

Bids to begin campus work

The South County Community College District Board of Trustees has approved working drawings and specifications for construction of Phase III facilities at the Chabot College Valley Campus and authorized a call for bids on the projects.

The work, approved at the board's Sept. 7 meeting, includes an addition to the science building and construction of physical education facilities and the first increment of an independent learning center.

In other action, the board approved an agreement with the sheriff's department to provide instruction and counseling for the inmate re-entry program at the Santa Rita Rehabilitation Center.

Under the program, which started last year, the community college will be reimbursed for actual salary costs and related fringe benefits as well as a sum not to exceed $3,000 for administrative costs of the program.

Dr. Reed Buffington, president of Chabot College, announced that $2 million in funds from the Department of Commerce available for construction purposes in areas with 6 1/2 per cent or more unemployment. Under terms of the plan, work must start within 90 days of award of the grant.

"We may seek funding for the Valley Campus," Buffington said. "I think a case can be made for the campus."

He promised to have more up-to-date information at the next meeting on Sept. 21.

Last chance to enroll!

The last registration period for those wishing to take classes at either the Chabot College Valley Campus in Livermore or Hayward Campus will be held Saturday, Sept. 18 from 8:30 a.m. to noon at the Hayward Campus.

Highway project funds lag

There is no guarantee that any highway project in California, including that Dublin to Castro Valley bottleneck, is going to be funded to completion in the foreseeable future.

That was the warning sounded on Tuesday by a construction industry spokesman who came here seeking support for a campaign "directed at the governor and the state legislators."

Ralph Nitzer, a vice president of Kaiser Sand and Gravel, said he was appearing at the Pleasanton Chamber of Commerce luncheon "as a private citizen and a concerned taxpayer." He came armed with facts, figures and warnings relative to "the dangerous condition" of the state's highway system.

Nitzer suggested that "every citizen should be concerned ... with highways 60 percent and 70 percent complete ... with interchanges that connect with nothing ... with roads that lead to nowhere." He warned also that funds for repair and maintenance of existing roads and highways are "dangerously low."

"Our excellent roads might be excellent no longer," the speaker said. The state's road system is now in need of some $8 billion to maintain that excellence, he warned.

Mounting a campaign against what the industry considers a misguided attitude by the Governor Brown's administration toward highways, the construction forces are urging a two cent increase in the seven cent per gallon gasoline tax "that hasn't changed since 1963." A tax that would be fixed as a percentage of the escalating price of gasoline is also suggested.

Nitzer cautioned his audience that "while CalTrans has recently come up with a six-year, $5.5 billion stop-gap program" for highway construction, that program "is no long-term answer by any means."

Completion of I-580, a project of immediate concern to Valley commuters, was cited by Nitzer as an example of that fund shortage. He noted that the CalTrans policy now looks to a "1980-1983 completion date" for that full Dublin-to-Castro Valley link. (This is inconsistent with Federal highway department estimates of a 1981 completion for that freeway link.)

Nitzer drew interest from the 50 assembled business people when he observed that "even the eight-lane freeway now being built" through Dublin Canyon is not going to be fully utilized.

"At peak commute hours, when you need those added lanes most, one lane is going to be closed off completely, and one other lane reserved just for trucks, car pools of three or more passengers and for buses," Nitzer said. This is the result, he explained, "of a compromise agreement worked out by the highway people and the Sierra Club" when that environmental group was threatening legal action that could have delayed the Dublin Canyon project for some years.

The construction industry's position on the current state embargo on most new highway construction is that "passenger vehicles provide 97 percent of all California transit. Even public transit, where it exists, relies on to some extent on the private automobile."

Mori bill extends housing units' life

Governor Jerry Brown signed into law yesterday a bill by Assemblyman Floyd Mori which will extend the life of Komandorski Village public housing to January 1, 1979.

The project had been slated for demolition at the end of this year because it was intended as temporary World War II housing, but the Housing Authority prevailed on the Legislature to grant the extension, the third two-year reprieve in its history.

Mori told The Times that the new law "will give the Housing Authority a chance to get some positive planning to implement alternative housing for the future." The Legislature made it clear it expects the Housing Authority to have a specific replacement program for the housing. Its mood is to grant no more extensions after this one unless the Housing Authority is far down the road toward its announced goal of 150 units of replacement housing.

Lack of sewer connections and unavailability of federal subsidies has stymied the Housing Authority's efforts to build replacement housing, though voters authorized the units by a 3-1 vote in a referendum in 1972. The Housing Authority recently appointed committees to try to assemble a specific housing replacement program and is proceeding on it.

"Birthday boy" Flecto winner

American High School's Mark Miller, who celebrated his 17th birthday Friday night by rambling for 231 yards and scoring four touchdowns against high-scoring Dublin, today was named winner of this week's "Flecto Sports Award."

The senior led his team to a 41-32 win over the Gaels, who got a 315-yard performance from the tandem of Chuck Gangnuss and Jim Boulware, to become the first Flecto winner of the season.

Also nominated for the Alameda County award was Granada's Vance Rushing, who dashed for 147 yards to lead the Mats past 10th ranked Marina, 30-7.

DeAnza's Villareal Schackelford won the Contra Costa award, outpacing two local running backs, Charlie Brice of San Ramon and Chris Miller of California.

Included in Mark Miller's romp over and through the Dublin defense was an 89-yard kick-off return for a touchdown.

He also scored on runs of 48, seven and two yards, piling up his impressive yardage total on just 22 carries. Miller's spectacular performance came as no surprise to his coach, Skip Cain.

"He's a super kid," Cain praised, noting that Miller was an all-league performer each of the last two years. As a junior last year, he was selected to the all-MVAL team on both offense and defense (cornerback). As a sophomore we was honored as a tight end.

"He's a very hard runner," Cain continued. "He doesn't have fantastic speed, but it's pretty good — 4.8 in the 40. He's got a lot of natural ability."

Miller has also played varsity basketball and baseball at American. He also takes care of the kicking duties and isn't too shabby in that department, either, according to his coach.

"He's very coachable. He's got good leadership ability, excellent rapport with the kids on the team and with the coaches," Cain said.

While Miller was tearing up the now-suspect Dublin defense, the Mats' Rushing wasn't doing too badly against the Titans. His 147 yards included three TD's, one on an 86-yard dash around right end.

The first time DeAnza's Schackelford touched the football Friday night, he went for a 64-yard touchdown against San Lorenzo's Arroyo Dons.

Before the night was over, the senior halfback added four more TD runs and a total of 182 yards rushing, leading the Richmond-based Dons to a 32-14 win over their namesakes.

Schackelford was an all-ACAL selection last year at halfback and received honorable mention on the all-East Bay squad. He also plays defense for DeAnza, but Villareal saves his strength for offense.

The Wolves' Brice, a 5-11, 170-pounder, scored two touchdowns in leading his team to a 23-12 upset of previously-ranked Harry Ellis. Cal's Miller, of the same stature as Brice, was outstanding despite the Grizzlies' 22-18 loss to Benicia.

He scored two TDs, one on an 85-yard kick-off return and had a 99-yard scoring play from scrimmage called back because of a penalty.

Poke netters stun Amador

Livermore High School's boys tennis team served notice that it would be a contender for the East Bay Athletic League title with a resounding 6-1 victory over defending champion Amador Valley yesterday in opening round action.

In another important opening match the Granada Matadors, third-place finishers last season, rolled to an easy 7-0 decision over Foothill.

In the top-seeded match of the Livermore - Amador competition Steve Williford of Livermore defeated David Finn of the Dons in two sets, 6-3, 7-6. Steve's brother Scott lost to Dean Copeman of Amador Valley, 1-6, 6-2, 7-6 in the second-seeded match. Copeman's victory evened the score at 1-1. However, Phil Newkirk of Livermore won the third match from Mike Crow in three sets. Newkirk won the first set, 6-3. Crow came back to take the second one, 6-4, but the Poke netter rallied for a 6-4 win in the third one.

Todd Larson added a convincing 6-1, 6-1 win over David Reineking and Vern Cedarlund cinched the match for Livermore with a 6-7, 6-1, 6-2 victory over Darrin Plott in the final singles match.

Times SPORTS
Dave Weber, Editor

Livermore won both doubles matches. Paul Smith and Mark Voelker teamed for a 5-7, 7-5, 6-4 win over Brian Calkins and Mike Rennels in the first match. Ken Kemp and Mark Johansen of the Cowboys took the second match over Travis Lee and David Liske, 6-3, 7-6.

Cowboy mentor Don Gabor was elated by his team's victory.

"I was suprised we won that easily," he said. "I knew Amador had lost most of its players from last year but I was still pleased by our play."

Manzar Iqbal got Granada off to a fast start, defeating Bob Cannon of Foothill, 6-1, 2-6, 7-6 in the top-seeded match of the day. Granada won five other matches in two sets and the other one by a forfeit.

"The Foothill players may not have had that much practice," said Granada mentor Lee Williford. "They just got a coach last night (Monday) so they may have just got started. They do have some good tennis players, through."

Both Gabor and Williford see a wi-deopen race for the EBAL championship this season.

"I think Monte Vista could be awfully strong," Williford said. "They have a lot of players back from last year. A lot of young good ones."

The early favorite in the EBAL race may be determined as early as tomorrow. Livermore travels to Granada for a important match and Amador hosts Monte Vista.

A's split, lose ground

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. — Dan Ford's ninth-inning single scored pinch runner

Jerry Terrell, giving the Minnesota Twins a 4-3 victory over Oakland and a split of their doubleheader Tuesday.

Vida Blue, 15-12, whipped the Twins 4-2 in the opener as Gene Tenace smacked a two-run homer in the eighth inning.

The nightcap loss dropped the A's 4½ games behind Kansas City in the American League West.

Ford lined his single off Jim Todd over a drawn-in A's infield. Todd had taken over for Paul Lindblad after a double by Craig Kusick and an infield single by Mike Cabbage.

Dave Goltz went the distance for the Twins to even his record at 13-13.

The A's had tied the game 3-3 in the seventh inning of the nightcap on a run-producing single by Billy Williams.

In the opener, Tenace drove in three runs while Blue scattered eight hits to give the A's their first win in eight games at Minnesota.

The A's took a 2-1 lead in the fourth inning on RBI singles by Joe Rudi and Tenace.

Tenace drove in three runs in the opener, including two with his 20th home run of the year.

Minnesota took a 1-0 lead when Ford tripped and scored on an infield out in the second, but Oakland went ahead in the fourth.

Tenace's homer in the eighth followed a walk to Sal Bando and boosted the A's into a 4-1 advantage.

Ford, who had three of Minnesota's eight hits against Blue, lined his 17th homer of the year into the left field pavilion in the ninth.

Blue beat the Twins for the seventh straight time, dating back to July 1973 and gave the A's their only victory of the season in Minnesota.

Steve Luebber, who fired a 3-0 shutout in his last appearance against Oakland Aug. 2, surrendered all four runs and dropped to 4-5.

A's shortstop Bert Campaneris was sidelined for both games with a bruised chest.

Clark leads 49er upsurge

The San Francisco 49ers are gradually developing into a factor to be reckoned with in the National Conference's Western Division race and the man responsible is new head coach Monte Clark.

Clark, who came over from Miami to take over the helm of the troubled 49ers, praised his team after the Niners' 26-14 victory over host Green Bay in the season opener Sunday.

"The 49ers are gaining in character as we go along," he said. "We spotted them (the Packers) seven points and came right back. We've been doing a lot of this kind of thing in 1976."

Clark was speaking about the 49ers' comeback after Green Bay took the lead early in the contest when safety Johnnie Gray intercepted a Jim Plunkett pass and returned it for a touchdown.

The 49ers' front four of Cedrick Hardman, Tommy Hart, Cleveland Elam and Jimmy Webb were perhaps the outstanding performers of the day. They sacked ex-Houston Oilers quarterback Lynn Dickey four times for 47 yards.

Another top performance came from San Francisco quarterback Jim Plunkett.

The former Boston Patriot completed eight of 12 passes for 120 yards and two touchdowns; both to wide receiver Willie McGee, one of the world's fastest humans.

McGee gathered in 24 and 29 yard tosses for scores in the second and third periods.

"Both were on crossing patterns," Plunkett emphasized. "We figured we would get back in the game even after Gray intercepted my first pass as a 49er. It is real satisfaction to win. We have a great running game but we have to work harder on short yardage situations."

Del Williams, the Kansas Comet, scored the other two SF touchdowns on runs of 59 yards, one an off-tackle scamper in the second quarter, and on a one-yard plunge in the fourth quarter.

Casper steals show in first Raider start

OAKLAND — "I think the fans got their ten bucks worth."

So said Oakland Raider quarterback Ken Stabler after he'd helped to dismantle reality here Sunday afternoon as the Raiders scored 17 points in the final three minutes to beat the Pittsburgh Steelers, 31-28.

But the fans weren't the only persons profiting from the bizarre season - opening contest. In fact, Raider tight end Dave Casper claimed a fortune in career - furthering performances and came away with the game ball, to boot.

Casper grabbed two touchdowns passes on his way to a seven reception 124-yard afternoon that was his first as a starter in the National Football League.

Laboring in the shadows of former Stanford star Bob Moore - since departed to Tampa Bay in the expansion draft - Dave had little opportunity to play after earning consensus All-American honors with national collegiate champion Notre Dame in 1973, his senior season.

But with Moore out of the way, the 230-pound former tackle made clear he'd had no plans to sit on the bench for a third season.

"We have so many great tight ends, it's hard to tell who's starting from week to week," he said. "But, contrary to the opinion in the Bay Area, I had the job when Bob left and it was up to Ted (Kwalick) to beat me out."

Kwalick played only as a secondary tight end Sunday and didn't catch a pass. However, Casper doubts the Raider coaching staff has consigned the former San Francisco 49er and Philadelphia Bell all-pro to the scrap pile.

"If I would have dropped a couple today, I don't know if they would have stayed with me," he mused.

Asked whether Sunday's was his first game ball as a pro, Casper, slightly annoyed, offered,

"Yeah...but, then, it's really my first game."

"This was definitely the best game of my life," he continued. "Hell, it outdoes my entire career, statistically."

Strange, but true. In his first two seasons with Oakland, Casper grabbed just nine passes for 97 yards. The native Minnesotan made the most of those catches, however, scoring four TD's. He also grabbed five passes for 67 yards in last season's AFC championship game with the Steelers.

Casper credited astute thinking by Stabler for his first touchdown catch Sunday.

"Ken anticipated the defense, we sent three men deep and there really wasn't much the Steelers could do about it," he recalled. Dave grabbed the Snake's pass inches from the left sideline and sidestepped safety Glenn Edwards for the TD.

The Raiders' third touchdown drive belonged to the 6-4 Casper. He was on the receiving end of 21- and 25-yard passing gains before Stabler capped the drive with a toss that found Dave curling in front of the goal post just a shade on the proper side of the end line.

But there was no joyous spike forthcoming.

"I was happy," recalled Casper. "But I was so tired I couldn't feel too good."

Stabler, who went to Casper more times than any other receiver except Fred Biletnikoff during the pre-season, compared Dave favorably with Baltimore's Raymond Chester, who gave the Raiders a deep threat at tight end in the early seventies.

"He doesn't have the speed Raymond did," Stabler said. "But, David can go deep. He runs good routes and he has good hands ... he's a good blocker..."

"A lot of people around the league underestimate David," Stabler concluded. Casper had kind words for Stabler in return.

"Snake put some nice balls in there for me," he said. "If he looks the other way, it's pretty hard for me to look good, but Ken's not the type to get all nervous - he looks all over the field."

While claiming that he is faster than most give him credit for, Casper says, "My size is another man's speed. My body's big enough that the defense can't rip the ball away from me; I can hold on a little longer in heavy traffic."

Casper got the game ball, but previously untested rookie place-kicker Fred Steinfort grabbed the hero's headlines, booting a 21-yard field goal with :18 to play that put the Raiders ahead for the first time since late in the first half - and for good.

But Steinfort, a tattooed German-American immigrant, coolly denied any butterflies in his stomach. Although he had a 47-yard attempt blocked during the scoreless first quarter, Steinfort remarked, "Annytime you go on the field, there's pressure."

Even next week, when the Raiders travel to Kansas City to face the struggling Kansas City Chiefs Monday night on national television. The Raiders can't afford a let-up after the emotional win over Pittsburgh.

"Last time we went back there," Stabler reminded. They kicked the hell out of us."

Gun show shot down

In the Bag

The Gun Show that was planned for the Alameda County Fair Grounds on September 18 and 19 has been canceled. To the best of our knowledge, no new date has been set. Perhaps we will have more information in the future on this.

Frank Stuart and Dennis Stone report that their dove hunting last weekend was somewhat dampened by the weather. That drippy little shower turned into a real downpour in the El Nido/Los Banos area, making the farm roads impassable.

Coast deer season ends this weekend. If you plan on going out after that forked - horn or better, do it now. Or you might make up for it by going out during the inland season which starts Sept. 25.

A different sort of program will be conducted over at the Richmond Rod and Gun Club on September 26. They have an interesting day coming up. This will be the first California state championship wild turkey - calling contest!

Chairman Mick Fairchild said that more than 3,000 persons are expected for the day - long program that will include duck and goose - calling contests, bird dog handling and water dog retrieving demonstrations, trap and skeet shooting, rifle and pistol shooting, fly - casting, archery shooting, art and wildlife displays and a children's BB-gun shoot.

Prizes will be awarded. And a buffaloburger luncheon will be served in the club dining room.

Judges for the turkey - calling contest will be Harold Harper, upland game coordinator, and Chuck Graves, associate wildlife manager - biologist, both with the Department of Fish and Game.

All events will be open to the public, Fairchild said, and there will be no admission charge.

"When we started this program," he said, "our basic goal was to bring together our sportsmen's organizations in California to participate in an all-day program to demonstrate that hunting and fishing are honorable sports for ladies and gentlemen who are dedicated to the conservation of our wildlife and natural resources."

Joint sponsors of the program are District Council No. 3 of the Associated Sportsmen of California, the California Waterfowl Association, Richmond Rod and Gun Club, Richmond Hunting Club and the Sportsmen's Committee on Political Education.

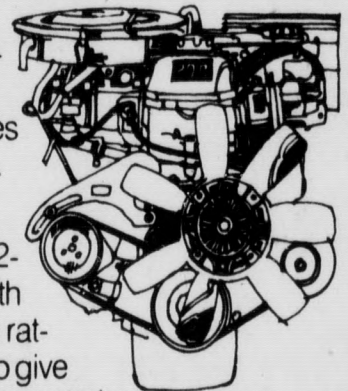

The club is located at 3155 Goodrock Avenue, Richmond. More information may be obtained by calling (415) 232-4964.

Starting this Wednesday or Thursday, Tony's Sporting Goods will feature fresh squid, mackerel and herring. All three are good bait, especially for salt water. Tony's Sporting Goods is located at 3841 First Street, Livermore.

Tony hasn't been in business there very long, but he makes an all-out effort to supply the sportsmen, especially fishing enthusiasts. You can call him at 443-9191.

TOUGH CHOICE

Not only does Toyota make four of the toughest, most dependable trucks around, but trying to decide which of our four models to buy can be one of the toughest decisions you'll ever make. That's because all four are built with a rugged, welded-steel frame. And, that makes them strong enough to carry up to 1,100-pound pay-loads—a truck full of furniture, farm supplies or three full-sized dirt bikes.

Talk about power. Every Toyota truck comes with the revolutionary 20R power plant, our 2.2-litre aluminum head overhead cam engine with the biggest displacement and highest torque rating in its class. Designed from the ground up to give maximum power and still meet emission controls without adding a lot of extra hardware. The 20R will take you from 0 to 55 in a quick 11.8 seconds. And combined with the electric fuel pump and our durable 5-speed overdrive transmission it's a performance story that's tough to beat.

YOU GOT IT.

Talk about a tough choice. We offer the widest selection of trucks in our class. Each one with man-sized cabs that offer more head, shoulder and hip room than our leading competitor. Will you choose our Long Bed with an optional 5-speed transmission or our SR-5 Sport Truck Long Bed with a standard

5-speed overdrive? Or our 4-speed models available on either the regular or Long Bed? Or our SR-5 regular bed with a standard 5-speed? Or would you rather have our optional automatic transmission on both bed sizes? It's all available and it's all up to you.

Talk about service. That's the one thing that isn't tough. There are 1,000 Toyota dealers all across America staffed with Toyota trained mechanics ready to give you the quality service quality trucks deserve. We believe we make the toughest quality line of trucks in the world. That's what gives us the confidence to say...if you can find a better built truck than a Toyota...buy it!

Roberson clash doesn't happen

SAN JOSE — Poor football fan Manuel Viera. He managed to see only the first half of San Jose State University's 48-7 demolition of the University of Hawaii Saturday night.

But Manuel had a somewhat legitimate excuse. His wife was having a baby.

That public announcement was about the only moment Hawaii fans could cheer as the Rainbow Warriors were rudely welcomed in their first visit to Spartan Stadium since 1959.

What many — well, at least a few — of the crowd of 19,500 came to see never materialized: A confrontation between brothers Larry and Rayford Roberson. Hawaii's Larry performed only as a kick-off returner while Rayford played about one half as a linebacker and as a member of the special teams.

Larry brought back only two of the five kicks that came his way, but nearly broke one for a long gainer.

"Yes, it was very close," he said of a TD possibility on a second-quarter 23-yard return.

A touchdown would not have been likely to change the game's outcome. San Jose was up 34-0 by that point.

Larry added a meager six-yard return on a squib by Randy Johnson later in the game. He said, "I don't think Rayford touched me on either return. If he did, I'm sure he would've let me know."

Rayford, meanwhile, played more than adequately in his first starting role as a collegian.

The 6-3 weakside linebacker from Dublin — 6-6 in his high-heeled civilian shoes — was credited with four tackles and six assists for a game-leading ten stops. He was, however, flagged for two 15-yard penalties.

His first, a piling on violation, gave Hawaii its initial first down with 7:13 left in the second period.

At the Marriott Hotel adjacent to Great America Park in nearby Santa Clara, where the Rainbows stayed before Saturday's nightmare, Larry and Rayford were greeting by their mother Bobbie and a dozen well-wishers.

"You know," Larry said, "I never thought I'd meet Rayford in a game. I tell you, with some publicity, he's going to be All-America some day."

"And if he gains 30 pounds," the 5-7 recreation major continued, "He might even be able to play professionally."

When informed of his older brother's remarks, Rayford said laughingly, "I hope I make the pros. Then I can give rides in my Cadillac."

Larry admitted that Hawaii was in a tough position even before taking the field.

Position change limited Larry

Knights open with 0-0 tie

The Dublin Knights opened their Junior Bantam Pop Warner football season in Napa Sunday, battling to a scoreless tie with the host Spartans.

Neither team gave up much ground, but Red Ziegler gained 51 yards and Cam Whitty 46 for the Knights. Defensive end Gary Anderson had a sterling afternoon, sacking the Napa quarterback twice.

Greg McBride and Mike Damoulos also shone on defense, combining for 13 tackles.

The Knights open the league season Saturday at 8 p.m. on the San Ramon High School field against the Thunderbirds.

In the Midget division, the Livermore Vikings made an impressive debut with an overwhelming, 41-7, win over the Santa Cruz Stingrays on the losers field.

The Vikings erased most doubt as to the outcome in the opening period as they rang up 28 points. Mark Sanchez broke an off-tackle play for a 21-yard touchdown and Jack Trudeau booted what is, in Pop Warner, the two-point conversion.

Sanchez bolted 33 yards on a similar play for the next TD, with Trudeau again kicking the points.

Doug Jones recovered a fumble for the next score and Scott Costa's 35-yard run with a reverse for the fourth TD.

Sanchez scored yet another TD in the final quarter when he rambled 65 yards. Trudeau found Sanchez with a pass for the extra point.

The explosive Sanchez picked up 182 yards on eight carries to account for

Asked if he kept tabs on Rayford's performance Saturday, Larry paused and with an elfish smile, said, "Naa... never noticed him."

The younger Roberson has his eyes set on the pros, but what about the 153-pound Larry?

"I'm going to earn my master degree and hopefully return to the Bay Area," he said.

The difference between the Rainbows and Spartans was about the same as the personalities of the subdued Larry and rambunctious Rayford.

San Jose scored on six of its first seven possessions, piling up a 41-0 halftime lead before reserves took over.

Rick Kane, the Spartans leading rusher out of Pleasanton's Amador Valley High School, highlighted San Jose's first scoring drive with a 57-yard burst. After being nearly crushed by a Rainbow tackler at the Hawaii nine, Kane never returned to action.

Kane later told reporters that he was just finishing up a bout with the flu. Rick's 63 yards on three carries gives him 187 yards in 20 packs this year, a 9.3 average.

Things got so bad for Hawaii, however, that when several penalties gave San Jose a fourth down and forty, one writer said, "That's Hawaii's best drive of the night."

This prompted more tragicomic repartee in the press box. Rainbow Sports Information Director Ed Enouye, perhaps spoke for the entire island entourage when he was asked what drink he preferred. "No vacaine," he replied.

Rotund radio personality Sam Skinner delved into history to sum up the contest. "What was the score at Pearl Harbor?" he asked. Even Hawaii head coach Larry Price dropped the anvil on his team. "San Jose State is a great team. But I wouldn't rank them nationally, not on the basis of beating us."

Heart disease covered in six sessions

SAN RAMON — A six-session course in "Heart Disease — the Nation's Number One Health Problem" will begin Thursday evening in the Family Medical Center, 9250 Alcosta Blvd.

Co-sponsored by Diablo Valley College, the center, and Contra Costa Heart Association, the class meets 7-9:30 p.m. in the lecture room.

Lectures, films, demonstrations and class discussions will provide information on the causes, risk factors and preventive measures of heart disease.

Education meetings to rotate

The Alameda County Board of Education has voted to rotate the location of meetings between the various trustee areas.

While the September meeting, slated Thursday, will be held at the traditional site in Hayward (Room 132 of the County Office Building on W. Winton in Hayward), the Sept. 30 is scheduled for Oakland, board member Eric Huggins' trustee area.

The one valley member of the board, Virginia Bird-sall of Livermore, will have the January 27, 1977 board meeting in her area.

At Thursday's meeting, the board will consider an amendment to board policy relating to the relationship between the county board and County Superintendent of Schools Rock LaFleche.

A County School Attendance Review Board report is also scheduled.

Foothill's first dance

PLEASANTON — Foothill High School students will have a "Welcome Back" dance this Friday from 9 to 12 midnight in the school gymnasium.

Tickets are now on sale at the student council window. Don Paukert is dance committee chairman.

"Uncle West" will play for the dance.

NEED A LAUGH?

If you require a good, hearty laugh with your cereal each morning, don't miss "Frank and Ernest" in The Times comics.

Whatever the problem, Relationship Counseling Center of Walnut Creek will try to answer it at a pot-pourri of workshops offered at their "Growth Faire," Sunday, Sept. 26.

For $2, participants may choose three workshops from a list of 16 topics — family therapy, enhancing your sexual relationships, creative aggression, how to live with your teenager, and others.

The faire is sponsored by the Relationship Counseling Center and will be located in their offices at 33 Quail Court, Suite 201.

Hours are 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. Proceeds will go to the Contact - C.A.R.E. Center of Lafayette.

Pre-registration is urged; the center number is 938-2836.

Turtle soup, or merely the mock?

What's the difference between a can of spaghetti sauce and meatballs ... and a can of spaghetti sauce with meat?

A lot of protein, according to state health officials.

The can with meatballs contains about six times the meat that's in the other can, says state health director Jerome A. Lackner, M.D.

Spaghetti sauce and meatballs must contain at least 35 per cent meat.

Now: What's the difference between "juice drink" and plain old "juice?"

About 99 per cent! A "juice drink" may contain as little as 1 per cent actual fruit juice, being mostly sugar water with some vitamins and flavoring. Some frozen concentrates are designed to look just like pure juice.

Although many of the drinks are vitamin C enriched, they lack many other nutrients found in pure juice and contain refined sugar instead. "You'd do just as well to take a vitamin pill and avoid the empty calories," Dr. Lackner advises.

The federal Food and Drug Administration requests manufacturers of fruit drinks to list the percentage of pure juice in the product. But for most meat products, which are regulated by the U.S. Department of Agriculture food standards, percentage labeling is not required.

"It takes some scrupulous label reading before you purchase a product to see what you're really getting," Lackner says.

"And even then you can't always be sure what you're getting when it comes to products which contain meat or poultry."

"We recently brought charges against several meat processors for adulterating ground meat and against another for selling old hens as prime roasting chickens."

Renowned church singer in Livermore

"In Word and Song" is presented by David Yantis, nationally known singer and composer of contemporary church music at St. Charles Borromeo Catholic Church, Lomitas Ave., Livermore on Thursday and Friday, Sept. 16 and 17.

The workshops and concert are sponsored by the Valley Covenant Ministry Council, an inter-denominational organization of nine valley churches. Nine additional churches are participating in the weekend events.

Yantis pioneered much of the new music in the church today. He is well known for his work with choirs and youth groups. He has held similar music workshops across the nation.

Inspiration for this career in contemporary church music came about as the result of an almost fatal automobile accident. For the past six years he has directed his talents in dedication to God by writing new Christian songs and hymns, and by directing music workshops.

What started as an experiment for Yantis directing music at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church in San Diego has grown into a full time road ministry. Yantis has now completed four albums on the Word label and is the compiler of the popular Contemporary Hymnbook used by churches of all denominations. He has written the music and filmed four shows for Key '73 with Bruce Larsen and Keith Miller. He also has to his credit over 100 songs and two complete musical worship services.

"In Word and Song" consists of four events:

•Pre-teen songs: A one hour session of songs and games in a fun and educational experience for pre-teen children and their choral leaders on Thursday, Sept. 16, at 3:30 p.m. Make reservations at 447-3289.

•Choir workshop: This is an intense three-hour session for choral groups and instrumentalists on guitar, flute, drum and string bass in a creative workshop on Sept. 16 at 7:30 p.m.

•Creative Workshop for worship leaders: This is at noon on Friday, Sept. 17. Interested clergy, organists, pianists and choir directors are asked to make reservations with Mrs. Pat Mueller at 447-0716.

•The David Yantis Concert: This is open to the public. The audience will be invited to participate. A free will offering will help defray expenses. For further information call 447-7385, 447-8840, 447-3531 or 443-6756.

Adults' photo classes

"An adjustable camera, because of its complexity, often intimidates the beginning photographer," says Will Johnson who teaches photography for Amador Valley Adult Education.

"But a little knowledge, which we provide, and some practice soon make the camera a comfortable tool with new photographers taking pictures they proudly display to friends and relatives."

Among the 130 classes now offered in evening adult education classes, photography continues to be one of the popular offerings. Two separate classes are now offered: Basic Photography, which is held Tuesday evenings at Dublin High School and Darkroom Techniques, offered Thursday evenings at the same school.

Signups for Amador Adult Education courses are now being taken. Pre-registration for classes will be taken at Dublin High on Wednesday from 7 to 9 p.m. and again Thursday from 7 to 9 at Amador Valley High.

Classes begin the week of Sept. 20.

Basic Photography is aimed at the new owner of an adjustable camera and deals with using that camera to produce better photographs. Films, lenses, flash, composition and filters are among the many subjects covered in detail.

Snow scenes like this one in the Sierras represent a tricky exposure problem for the photographer. This and other picture-taking problems will be covered in detail in two evening courses being offered by Amador Valley Adult Education at Dublin High School. The courses are designed to help valley shutterbugs improve their pictures.

"I find photography has two aspects," continues Johnson, "the technical and the artistic. A good photographer needs to feel at home with the technicalities of handling his camera and needs the artistic insights to communicate meaningful images to others. I try to emphasize both aspects equally."

Darkroom Techniques is aimed at the more advanced student who wishes to learn how to handle black and white photographic materials while acquiring necessary darkroom skills.

"Nothing can match the magic of watching your photograph come to life under the darkroom safe-light," adds Johnson. "It's exciting and I find my students maintain a high level of enthusiasm and involvement in this class."

Adult Education classes are still offered at $4 registration fee and occasionally a lab fee is required. For example, Darkroom Techniques requires a $2 lab fee.

Students may also register by attending the first class meeting. Brochures listing class offerings, times, fees and locations are available at the Dublin and Pleasanton libraries, and at Pleasanton and Amador district schools.

For additional information, interested adults may call 462-5500, extension 17.

Conversion comments

In the recent parent survey, to determine whether Murray School District parents supported conversion of a school to seventh-eighth grade use or retaining of the status quo, parents in several school areas were almost equally divided on the question.

The survey, overall, found 40 per cent of those responding backing conversion and a like percentage supporting the status quo.

Among those groups fairly evenly divided were parents of Nielsen 7-8 students, Wells 7-8 students, and Murray K-6 students.

Following are some of the responses of Murray K-6 parents, turned in along with their opinions on conversion versus status quo:

"With enrollment dropping, why build a new school? This (conversion) seems like the most logical solution to our problem."

"It is extremely important that all seventh and eighth graders have access to the same quality and variety of junior high experiences and education. We feel they would then be better prepared for high school. It would seem that converting a school with an existing seventh and eighth grade facility would be an advantage."

"Get busy and build a new junior high to take care of these problems."

"I feel all the 7-8 students should be separated from the younger grades, however, not to the extent that if this is accomplished my elementary school children be bused. This would not be feasible, especially for the K-3 children. I would fight this if it came up in my neighborhood."

"Essential to conversion are the many benefits resultant from (6) seventh and eighth graders in a middle school environment; age, maturation, and homogeneity would help in the transition to high school — efficiency in effective administration of 6-7-8 graders and staff — provides a safer and more enriched experience for K-5 children."

"I don't like Wells; need a new and better junior high."

"I prefer K-8 and 9-12 schools. I found that breaking up into a middle group such as 7-8 grades has created an emotional imbalance of growing up such as being disassociated with elementary and with high school children, yet feeling more like high school age. To me, my children felt like a middle child in the 7-8 grade group — insecure, unwanted and ignored. Four of my children went through this phase. Two had problems in high school, two did not, but all four disliked 7-8 grade separation intensely. I will have one more child yet to enter the 7-8 grade group."

"I strongly feel that there should be three level groupings: K-8, children, small child to mid-teens; 9-12, on the way to growing up to childhood, mid-teens and late; college — adults. The way it is now: psychologically, K-6, children; 7-8, not a child (what am I?) on the way to maturity; 9-12, I am grown up. You may not agree with what I have written but I feel our society is pushing our children into adulthood before they are ready. Once they reach high school they become indecisive, confused and made to believe that by the age of 17 and 18 they are now adults ready for the outside world. Many are, but there are too many that cannot even decide on their future."

"What are the empty classrooms in some schools being used for?"

"This is not an effective survey."

"I have two children — one at Murray and one at Wells — and I'm very happy."

"The reason we oppose conversion is primarily because the younger children going to the school which would be converted would have to be bused to another school. We also don't like the possibility of spending more money on conversion of existing buildings."

Amador attendance hits mark

Attendance at the Amador Valley School District's four campuses is right on average projections for the 1976-77 school year.

Counts made Monday show Amador with 1,855 students, Dublin 1,513, Foothill 1,362 and Valley Continuation 89.

According to Dr. David Carlisle, district director of research and development, enrollments will peak about the first of October.

District officials received a momentary scare Monday when Foothill's student count came in more than 200 under a projection of 1,350.

Since the district receives approximately $1,000 per average daily attendance, the figure could have resulted in the district losing some $200,000 in ADA support.

However, a revised figure missed the average projected figure for the year by just 12.

Projections for Amador and Dublin are also extremely close to the enrollments as of yesterday.

Total district enrollment now is 4,819. Projection was 4,772.

However, Carlisle says that district officials hope enrollments will go higher between now and Oct. 1 to offset the usual attendance dropoffs at mid-year.

Permissive hearing

A public hearing on California's new permissive Education Code is scheduled Tuesday, Sept. 28 at the County Education Center in Hayward.

The center is located at 685 A St. and the hearing will be in Room 46.

"This is an opportunity to learn more about ways in which the new code may be implemented in elementary and secondary schools and community colleges, and an opportunity to offer suggestions for the rewriting of the code," said Wilson Riles, state Superintendent of Public Instruction.

Riles added persons unable to attend any of the public hearings but who desire to submit comments in writing are invited to communicate directly with either Thomas M. Griffin, chief counsel, state Department of Education, 721 Capitol Mall, Room 535, Sacramento 95814, or Gary M. Gallery, legal counsel, California Community Colleges, 1238 S St., Sacramento 95814.

Karate through LARPD

Francis Meyer, left, will supervise rigorous and continuous training in the martial art of karate (Tang Soo Do) during fall classes scheduled by Livermore Area Recreation and Park District. Beginners and intermediate grade classes will be held Wednesday evenings at the Recreation Center, 8th and H streets. Classes begin Sept. 22.

District says tax equal Conversion comments

San Ramon residents are paying 21.9 cents per $100 of assessed valuation to the East Bay Regional Park District, while Pleasanton and Dublin dwellers shell out 19.5 cents and Livermore homeowners, not a cent.

Unfair? EBRPD officials say it's "equalized" — Contra Costa County's assessment ratio is lower so their tax rate is higher. That puts San Ramon in a slightly higher tax bracket than Pleasanton and Dublin.

As for Livermore, residents there have never voted to join the sprawling park district, sticking with their own Livermore Area Recreation and Park District.

They are the only holdouts in Alameda County, while the rural part of eastern Contra Costa County is the other non-EBRPD - taxpaying sector.

Despite their stubbornness, Livermore residents are surrounded with EBRPD bounty in the form of Del Valle Regional Park south of town, Morgan Territory Preserve to the north, Shadow Cliffs in Pleasanton and Sunol Regional Wilderness to the south.

The EBRPD has not raised their tax rate this year. They adopted a 20.4-cent tax rate on Aug. 17 to finance their $22.8 million budget.

But the figure had to be equalized between the two counties, consistent with their relative assessment ratios, valuation rolls and inflationary factors recognized by the State Revenue and Taxation Code.

The assessment ratio for Alameda County proved to be 25.8 percent of the full cash value (FCV) while Contra Costa County's was 22.8 percent.

Taxpayers listen to override pitch

LIVERMORE — American Taxpayers Union members here may be against the proposed 25 cents safety tax override, but they are planning to listen to fire and police officials present their side of the argument Thursday.

The forum will take place during the ATU regular monthly meeting at the Livermore Public Library on South Livermore Ave., 8:15 p.m.

The public is invited. During the August meeting, Livermore Finance Director George Nolan reviewed the city's financial structure and gave a background for studies into the complex tax structure which allows no additional taxation other than an override.

The ATU had submitted a ballot argument against the proposed override, claiming the city has spent too much of the tax monies collected for "nonessentials" and had failed to allocate sufficient funds to fully cover the safety agencies.

Additional information can be obtained from ATU program chairman John Halyak at 447-1051.

Homeowner meeting

SAN RAMON — The San Ramon Homeowners Association will meet tomorrow night at 7:30 p.m. at Neil Armstrong School.

The new board will be: President, Ed Lycinski; Vice-President, Dave Stegman; Sect./Treas., Carolyn Hendricksen; Board of Directors, Frank Giannini, Judi Gural, Georgia Jacka and Julian Knop. Former directors Dick Allen and Michael Wahlgig will remain on board.

Alameda County girds for flu shot surge

Hazel Bellamy ends the saga of "Upstairs, Downstairs," the Public Broadcasting System's sojourn through early 20th century they claim. And the now notorious federal directive that will make swine flu immunization available to everyone in the country is available at local clinics. Special programs will be set up for senior citizens at their centers and residential facilities.

tics are impressive, but immunologists admit they have no deductive proof that it was the "swine flu" that raced around the Blood samples taken from those who lived through what was first called the "Spanish Flu" and later attributed to other nationalities, show acquired antibodies produced to fight off the disease. This, scientists conclude, is evidence that the pandemic was the until then rare transmission of swine flu virus from human to human.

But every time there has been a "major shift," there has been a pandemic. Immunities, they explain, simply are not built but to the new virus.

Chin, chief of the state's infectious disease section, "there is a tremendous concern by all of these medical advisory groups that there may be a recycling of influenza virus antigens." The "recycling," he says, brought the Asian Flu of 1957 to the fore in 1957, and the Hong Kong Flu back again in 1968. "Next year, or the year after that, the swine may come back."

It's not simple speculation, he claims. Individual, isolated cases of swine flu have cropped up over the past several years. But always to people in close contact with swine, namely hog farmers, veterinarians, and the like.

Western Europe, with her youthful and hence untimely death from "swine flu." An estimated 20 million people died from the world's worst known pandemic in 1918-20, narrator Alister Cook tells us, obviously more than the 8,300,000 servicemen killed in action, and probably more than the total lost in the holocaust that started with the Guns of August.

not "pork barrel" legislation aimed at winning votes, they say. The shots will be available late next month, says county coordinator Gloria Taylor, as the vaccine "trickles in." Inoculation should start Sunday, Oct. 24, "mainly at schools," she adds, with daily, Monday through Friday shots

Private doctors also will have the vaccine, and it will be made available to industry and nursing homes as well. Ms. Taylor needs volunteers, and may be reached at 533-2326. The big question always asked, she says, is "Do I really need it?"

That particular virus has been found in pigs since the isolation of the flu virus in the 1930s. It normally is transmitted only between swine, occasionally from swine to humans, and rarely from person to person. The latter, they believe, was the pandemic of 1918-20.

Other pandemics periodically have flattened the human race. Those of 1890 and 1900 wrecked havoc, but nothing compared to the catastrophe attached to Hazel Bellamy's malaise. The Asian Flu of 1957, the Hong Kong Flu of 1968, and the current A/Victoria strain of virus differed radically from each other, but none of them resemble their grim reaper of more than half a century ago. In between what scientists call "major antigenic shifts" in the viruses' compositions, they note gradual "drifts" where basically the same virus goes through a gradual transformation.

But in February of this year a seemingly routine outbreak of the flu flattened recruits at the U.S. Army's Fort Dix. "The severity," says Dr. Chin, "was not very great... It was almost the normal type of influenza and would not have been recognized except for laboratory tests."

Eleven men were hospitalized and "several hundred" found to have the swine flu bug. In other words, he says, the virus broke its pattern and was transmitted from human to human. "One of the disconcerting findings," he says, "was that one of the original presenting cases, a relatively healthy 19-year-old military recruit, died of fulminating hemorrhagic pneumonia, reminiscent of the type of fulminating pneumonia seen in the 1918 pandemic."

And now, state and federal infectious disease officials tell us, it may be back. They aren't out to spread panic — or the swine fly —

Mayor shows concern for youth facility

PLEASANTON — Mayor Robert Philcox expressed concern about a "changing" federal Youth Correction Center at Camp Parks Monday night, but those changes are not as dramatic as they look, a prison official said yesterday.

Philcox told council members Monday night that the correctional facility is no longer called a "youth correctional center," higher fences are being installed and more buildings are planned for construction. Because of this "conceptual change," Philcox wants prison officials to talk to the city council about the nature of the prison's five year building plan.

Acting Warden John Allman told The Times yesterday that he would be happy to talk to the city council about the five year building program and anything else relating to the facility. The change in name the name of the facility does not reflect a change in the prison's population, said Allman. There were six or seven prison names in the past used by the Federal Bureau of Prisons and they were reduced to three names. The old Federal Youth Correctional Facility was eliminated and the Camp Parks facility now goes by the name of Federal Correctional Institution.

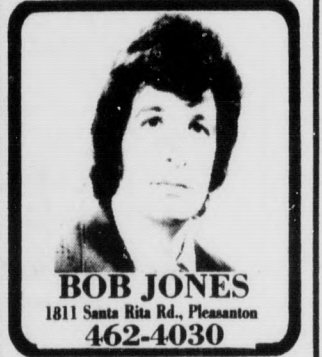

The prison still serves the 18 - 26 year old group and is the only one in the West with its type of program and the only one in the country which is coeducational. There were 10 women inmates over the age of 26 who were staying at the center temporarily, but nearly all of them have left, said Allman.

The local facility will expand its population by 125 when it builds $2.8 million worth of new housing units, said Allman. There will be no changes in the prison facility's population composition or type of program, he said.

Statistics from major flu outbreaks point to higher mortality rates for the elderly and chronically ill. But the swine flu virus apparently is ageless. "The death rate is fairly uniform throughout all age groups," says Dr. Chin. "In fact, there is a relative protection of some of the older population, which suggests that some of the older age groups have partial protection against the circulating pandemic virus."

But "it was the young adults and the relatively young population that had the highest mortality rates" in the 1918 pandemic, he adds. "There are a lot of people who cite the findings at Ft. Dix as representing a laboratory fluke," he says. "As something that was picked up as a result of intensive surveillance and may not amount to anything. It's quite likely that might be a valid statement."

"When you're sick or hurt and can't work, your car payments don't stop."

Place of peace

The city council will be on hand at 2 p.m. Sunday in front of the Cultural Arts Center on Black Avenue in Pleasanton to dedicate the arts monument which is called "A Place of Peace". The monument was constructed by Castro Valley artist Bob Miller and was donated to the city by Ark Pre-school through a grant from the Alameda County Training and Employment Board. The sculpture was created jointly by the sculptor and students of the nursery school. After the dedication, the council will tour the city and view 10 buildings which have been described by the Amador - Livermore Historical Society as having great historic significance. The council has been considering implementation of the city's historical overlay district and wants first to become acquainted with the most significant sites which could be affected by the ordinance. ## Initiatives voters are facing Nov. 2

SACRAMENTO — Initiative campaigns have put in the laps of California voters the flammable issue of farm labor elections and the hotly contested proposal to legalize dog racing with betting.

Those are the headline grabbers on the Nov. 2 ballot, which has 13 other propositions put up to voters by acts of the state legislature.

The first three issues on the ballot total $805 million in bond proposals — $500 million for low-income housing loans; $280 million for parks, and $25 million for a solar heating and insulation home loan program.

Backers of an effort to raise the interest rate lenders can charge on business loans are taking another crack at it, after the same measure was rejected in the June 8 primary election.

But most of the campaign fury already is centering on the farm labor initiative, Prop. 14, and the greyhound racing initiative, Prop. 13.

In 1975 the glowing accomplishment of Gov. Edmund Brown Jr.'s first year in office was creation of the landmark secret ballot farm labor union elections law.

But growers claimed Brown's appointees to the farm labor board were tilted in favor of Cesar Chavez' United Farm Workers union. They didn't like the board's ruling that union organizers could have access to a farmer's fields to talk with workers during certain times.

Republicans and rural Democrats in the legislature blocked a bill to give the board funds to operate from February through June, and Chavez launched an initiative drive to put the law on the ballot. If approved by the people it would be beyond immediate reach of the legislature, and would take another vote of the people to change it.

The initiative statute is slightly rewritten to include some pro union changes, including the access rule, which is now merely an administrative regulation.

Brown has come out in support of Prop 14, declaring it "will take the farm labor law out of politics and give a measure of stability."

Growers are mounting a $2 million campaign against Prop. 14, and Fred Heringer, president of the California Farm Bureau Federation, blames Brown for all the fuss.

Some legislators say the existence of the UFW initiative was the lever for approval of funds to operate the farm labor board for the remainder of this fiscal year.

On the dog racing front, law - and - order forces have ganged up against Prop. 13. This measure was put on the ballot by petitions after numerous bills were defeated in the legislature over the years.

The main force behind the initiative is George Hardie. The former harness race driver stands to benefit by getting in on the ground floor in the awarding of licenses to operate tracks. Hardie says he deserves it because of his hard work to legalize dog racing with wagering.

Until recently, Hardie balked at releasing names of his financial backers, saying it was a "witchhunt" against his effort to make California the 13th state to have greyhound racing with pari - mutuel wagering.

Hardie agreed to give the state Fair Political Practices Commission certain information only after he was given the choice of complying or going to jail.

The FPPC wanted the records because of allegations that Hardie had violated the 25-per cent - per - signature law for petitions. Hardie has gone to the state Supreme Court in his challenge of that provision of the Political Reform Act of 1974.

Hardie, meanwhile, has a Sept. 22 date with the FPPC staff to testify under oath. Los Angeles County Dist. Atty. John Van de Kamp calls it a "sweetheart measure which is aimed at enriching one man and his associates."

Van de Kamp also says Prop 13 creates a new industry in California without safeguards against "taint and corruption."

The other propositions:

Housing bonds, Prop. 1

Would give the state Housing Finance Agency funds, by sale of $500 million in bonds, to make low-interest loans for renting, repairing and buying homes.

Park bonds, Prop. 2

Would allow the state to sell $280 million for parks, including $120 million for purchasing ocean front property.

Solar heating, Prop. 3

Would allow, if voters also approve Prop. 12, the state to sell $25 million in bonds to provide low interest loans for residents to add insulation or put in solar space heating equipment. Prop. 12 would authorize the legislature to set up such a loan program.

University, Prop. 4

Would allow the legislature to change procedures by which the University of California awards construction contracts, sells property and purchases materials. It also would specify in the Constitution that no person could be kept from admission to the university on the basis of race, religion or ethnic heritage.

Interest rates, Prop. 5

Would allow certain lenders to add 7 per cent to the Federal Reserve rate on business loans, or charge 10 per cent, whichever is greater. As of last June, the federal rate was 5.5 per cent, so the annual rate would be 12.5 per cent.

Prop. 5 was defeated by voters when it was Prop. 12 last June.

Governor's veto, Prop. 6

Would give the governor 30 days, instead of 12, to veto a bill passed by the legislature at the end of the first or second years of a two-year session. It also would give the public 90 days from enactment of the law to qualify petitions for a ballot proposition to reject the law.

Judges, Prop. 7

Would allow two public members on the commission that oversees judges, and make it easier for the state Supreme Court to reprimand or remove judges.

Boards of Education, Prop. 8

Would allow more than one county to jointly form a board of education and elect or appoint a schools superintendent.

Vacancies, Prop. 9

Would require majority votes of the Senate and Assembly to confirm appointments by the governor to fill vacancies in the offices of lieutenant governor, attorney general, secretary of state, controller, treasurer, superintendent of public instruction and state Board of Equalization.

Two-county tax, Prop. 10

Would prevent a new local agency from levying a property tax without majority voter approval if the agency includes more than one county.

Unsecured property, Prop. 11

Would require the legislature to adjust the tax rate on "unsecured" personal property, such as inventories, business equipment and furnishings, so that it would be on an equal basis with "secured" property, such as land, if the legislature changes the assessment ratio from 25 per cent of market value.

Chiropractors, Prop. 15

Would put two public members on the Board of Chiropractic Examiners.

Opposition to dog racing

The California Commission on Aging and 30 AFL-CIO unions have announced their opposition to Proposition 13, the dog race gambling initiative on the November ballot.

According to Commissioner Ted Ellsworth, "Proposition 13 uses an essentially misleading sales pitch aimed at senior citizens, trying to get them to believe that the measure will benefit them in some way. But commission study showed that the measure contains more dangers than promise."

The commission is a state agency specifically charged to be the principal advocate body on behalf of older citizens.

Proposition 13 is a 9,000 word ballot measure that would permit gambling at dog tracks in California. In addition, the measure would establish such details as tax rates and the ways funds would have to be spent, freezing complex provisions into state law.

Officials of more than 30 AFL-CIO unions, representing some 500,000 California workers, today announced formation of a Labor Committee Against Proposition 13 to "defeat a crude attempt to milk and misuse the public."

The labor group charged that the dog racing proposition on the November ballot represented a "a threat to existing jobs in legitimate and traditional entertainment and sport enterprises and is a tax hoax that will increase instead of reducing the tax burden because of added crime activity."

Those on record against the dog race gambling measure include the California Democratic Party, California Democratic Council, the California Chamber of Commerce, California Farm Bureau, the state Peace Officers' Association, the County Sheriff's Association, 18 humane organizations and the League of California Cities.
